

Curates of Hessle

4 November 2019

The entries in this list are partly based on lists pasted into the church Log Book (p. 18, a list of parochial chaplains covering the earliest years, 1219–1557; p. 50, covering 1758–1900; and pp. 211–214, covering 1900–1968). Up to 1959 they were compiled by A. S. Harvey, church Archivist from 1944 to 1962, when he died. Harvey does not state his sources except for the years up to 1557, when they are printed sources, but for the years 1754–1891 he consulted the signatures on the registers. The list on pp. 211–214 was completed up to 1968 by John Chignell who succeeded him as Archivist (1963–69); the sources for the years 1924–68 are clearly the copies of Hessle clergy licences at the East Riding Archives, ref. PE194/146.

Some additional information comes from archbishops' visitation returns, signatures on the registers of baptisms and weddings, the Annual Parochial Vestry Meeting (APVM) and Parochial Church Council (PCC) minutes, and the parish magazine. Names and dates since 1968 are taken from the church Log Book. The information has also been supplemented from the Clergy of the Church of England Database (CCED), <http://db.theclergydatabase.org.uk>, which covers the years 1540–1835 but is not complete, and from the series of York Clergy Ordinations covering 1500–1849 published by the Borthwick Institute for Archives.<sup>1</sup>

It has not been possible to check the licensing records at the York Diocesan Archive.

Until Holy Trinity, Hull, became a parish in its own right, curates also served there, but they appear to have been licensed specifically to serve at Holy Trinity. Where this is the case they are omitted from this list.

Curates

1614	Toby Tomlinson <sup>8</sup>
1683	Daniel Acklam <sup>9</sup>
1743	No curate <sup>10</sup>
1759–69	Francis Tong <sup>11</sup>
1764	‘a deacon named Thomas Norwich’ <sup>12</sup>
1769–79	Pearson Simpson <sup>13</sup>
1779–91	John Watson <sup>14</sup>
1787	John Watson Bowman <sup>15</sup>
1808–	James Simpson <sup>16</sup>

<sup>7</sup> Conjectural. Thomas Fugall is included in a list of the parochial chaplains in the church Log Book (p. 18) but this cannot be verified from the Clergy of the Church of England database (CCED) (<http://db.theclergydatabase.org.uk/jsp/persons/index.jsp>) or from the Victoria County History (Allison, K. J. (ed.), A History of the County of York East Riding, Vol. I, The City of Kingston upon Hull (Oxford: Oxford University Press for the Institute of Historical Research, 1969)).

<sup>8</sup> According to Cross, C. (ed.), York Clergy Ordinations 1561–1642 (Borthwick Lists and Indexes 24, 2000), p. 67, Toby Tomlinson was ordained Curate to serve at Hessle on 18 December 1614. The CCED records a Tobias Tomlinson who was ordained Deacon in March 1614 but contains no mention of his serving at Hessle.

<sup>9</sup> According to the CCED, Daniel Acklam was licensed to serve at Hessle on 23 December 1683.

<sup>10</sup> Walker, P. C. and Ollard, S. L. (eds), Archbishop Herring’s Visitation Returns 1743, Vol. II, published by the Yorkshire Archaeological Society, Record Series, Vol. 72 (1929), at the East Riding Archives, ref. JL/127/72.

<sup>11</sup> Francis Tong signed the register of marriages between 20 November 1758 and 19 April 1769. The CCED records a William Tong appointed Curate to serve at Hessle on 29 September 1759, and, according to Usher, D., York Clergy Ordinations 1750–1799 (Borthwick Lists and Indexes 33, 2002), a Richard Tong was ordained Priest on 29 September 1759. Archbishop Drummond’s Visitation report of 1764 gives the name of the Hessle Curate as Richard Tong (Annesley, Cressida and Hoskin, Philippa, Archbishop Drummond’s Visitation Returns 1764, part II (Yorkshire H-R), Borthwick Texts and Calendars 23 (1998), at the East Riding Archives, ref. JL/156/23) and states ‘there is one publick school, endowed by Chamberlain, and Richard Tong is the master’. A Richard Tong was frequently a witness to marriages at Hessle at this time, but his signature is different from that of Francis Tong. According to the churchwardens’ accounts, on 7 April 1743 a Richard Tong was appointed schoolmaster.

<sup>12</sup> The return of Archbishop Drummond’s visitation of 1764 records a Deacon called Thomas Norwich. He is not to be found in the CCED.

According to the CCED, he was appointed Curate at Hessle on 9 August 1770.

<sup>14</sup> According to Usher, York Clergy Ordinations 1750–1799, John Watson was ordained Deacon on 11 July 1779 and appointed to Hessle on the same date. He signed the Hessle marriage register between November 1779 and May 1791 and in 1782 he was petitioner for a faculty for a gallery. According to the CCED he was appointed Perpetual Curate at Coley, Halifax in July 1791. Signed the Terrier of July 1786.

<sup>15</sup> John Watson Bowman was the son of Thomas Bowman, Vicar of Hessle 1757–99 and Rector of Brantingham 1755–68; Usher, York Clergy Ordinations 1750–1799, see also see also excerpts from the Brantingham registers at http://archive.org/stream/registerofparis12bran/registerofparis12bran\_djvu.txt. He was ordained Deacon, to serve at Hessle, on 15 July 1787. According to Usher and the CCED, in 1788 he was ordained Priest to serve in a parish in the Diocese of Bristol, so it seems pure coincidence that a John Watson and a John Watson Bowman were at Hessle at the same time.

<sup>16</sup> James Simpson was ordained Deacon, to serve at Hessle, on 11 April 1808 (Slinn, S., York Clergy Ordinations 1800–1849, Borthwick Lists and Indexes 28, 2001). He signed the Hessle marriage register

1810–11	John Fearon <sup>17</sup>
1811–12	Thomas Barton <sup>18</sup>
1812–23	Richard Mawhood <sup>19</sup>
1823–25	George Stringer Bull <sup>20</sup>
1825–27	George Stochlin Weidemann <sup>21</sup>
1827–29	Robert Vason Rogers <sup>22</sup>
1830–31	John van Hennert <sup>23</sup>
1831–39	Michael Dawson <sup>24</sup>
1847–49	John Harrison <sup>25</sup>

between May 1808 and December 1809. He was licensed as Curate at Brantingham on 16 February 1818 (CCED).

<sup>17</sup> Licensed to Hessle 24 December 1809 (Slinn, York Clergy Ordinations 1800–1849). John Fearon signed the Hessle marriage register between May 1810 and July 1811 and, according to the CCED, was later Curate at Liverpool St Matthew (1814) and Liverpool St John (1818).

<sup>18</sup> Licensed to Hessle 21 July 1811 (Slinn, York Clergy Ordinations 1800–1849). Thomas Barton signed the Hessle marriage register between August 1811 and November 1812.

<sup>19</sup> Signed the Hessle marriage register between April 1813 and April 1821. He preached his farewell sermon at Hessle on 13 April 1823: ‘... a good and affecting discourse. He had been ten years curate to Mr Garwood, a most worthy, good man, sensible and well informed but altogether so nervous, shy and diffident that he was not well calculated for the office he filled. In the reading desk careless and inattentive and disregarding the propriety and devotion in the service and the pulpit, too doctrinal and abstruse. Too much regarded “faith” and not insisting sufficiently on the necessity of “good works”. The consequence was the Parish was neglected and the Methodists had got possession of all the children.’ Hicks, J. D. (ed.), The Journal of Joseph Robinson Pease, 1822–1865 (East Yorkshire Local History Society, 2000), p. 15.

<sup>20</sup> Signed the Hessle marriage register between May 1823 and June 1825. Licensed to serve at Hessle on 21 March 1823 (Slinn, York Clergy Ordinations 1800–1849). Became Curate at Hanging Heaton Chapel in December 1825 (CCED). ‘... [S]eemed most judicious and praiseworthy. He is an intelligent, active and clever young man and likely to do much good if Hessle prejudice and opinionatedness do not counteract his good intentions.’ Hicks (ed.), The Journal of Joseph Robinson Pease, 1822–1865, p. 16.

In the Pease family correspondence at the Hull History Centre (ref. C DFP/981) there is a letter from Bull to Joseph Robinson Pease dated February 1824 about Bull’s salary and prospects. On taking the post he had accepted £50 a year for two years. He needed £100 a year at a minimum (he included a budget) and had threatened to resign. The Vicar, Garwood, had said the parishioners might contribute. Bull claimed that Methodist preachers got £200 a year and the Church of England clergy with ‘rust breeches and threadbare coats’ were objects of embarrassment. There is also a letter from the Vicar to Pease, dated 13 April 1824: Garwood was paying a curate out of the income of the Vicar’s farm, which was falling, and he had to reduce the salary. ‘Yet being sensible of the extra services in the Parish I incline to hope he will receive from some of the Parishioners who duly appreciate them an encouragement to continue them.’ At the Hull History Centre, ref. C DFP/1169.

<sup>21</sup> Signed the Hessle marriage register between June 1825 and February 1827. Preached his farewell sermon on 15 April 1827. ‘He was a clever preacher but rather too bombastic in his style. He was not regular or punctual in his superintendence of schools etc and the consequence was that all the accounts were in arrears and confusion.’ Hicks (ed.), The Journal of Joseph Robinson Pease, 1822–1865, p. 40.

<sup>22</sup> Licensed to serve at Hessle on 2 April 1827 (Slinn, York Clergy Ordinations 1800–1849). Signed the Hessle marriage register between October 1827 and June 1829. The middle name is spelled Vashon in the CCED entry.

<sup>23</sup> Signed the Hessle marriage register between April 1830 and January 1831. According to the CCED he was appointed Curate at Frodingham, Lincs in August 1831.

<sup>24</sup> Licensed to serve at Hessle on 5 June 1831 (Slinn, York Clergy Ordinations 1800–1849). Signed the Hessle marriage register between June 1831 and September 1837.

<sup>27</sup> Appointed incumbent of St Andrew's, Craigton, Jamaica in 1858. 1861, appointed Curate at St Mark's, Whitechapel. Ejected from that post after preaching a sermon in which he denied the doctrine of eternal punishment. In 1863 he was recommended to the curacy of St Mark's, Victoria Docks. Appointed Vicar of Healaugh near Tadcaster in 1864. Deprived of his living in 1871 for his heterodox views. Later founded the Theistic Church in London. Source: the Voysey Society. He was married when he moved to Hessle, so perhaps he and his wife were expecting a baby.
